

getFromDBForTarget

getTabNameForItem

getTable

```
graph LR; A[getFromDBForTarget] --> C[getTable]; B[getTabNameForItem] --> C;
```

The diagram illustrates a dependency or relationship where two separate functions, 'getFromDBForTarget' and 'getTabNameForItem', both point to a single function named 'getTable'. The arrows indicate that 'getTable' is a common component or a shared resource used by both other functions.